

The Harriet Hale Woolley Scholarship
At the Fondation des Etats-Unis, Paris, France

DESCRIPTION:

The Harriet Hale Woolley Scholarship is a private grant awarded annually to up to four graduate and post-graduate American students in the visual fine arts (painting, graphic design, print-making, sculpture, photography) and music (composition, instrumental or vocal performance). The scholarship is not intended for research in art history, or musicology, nor for dance or theatre.

Successful candidates propose a unique and detailed project related to their study which requires a one-year residency in Paris. As this project should include enrolment in a recognized French art school or music conservatory, it is strongly suggested that the candidate establish a significant contact with a teacher or institution prior to arriving in France and to show evidence of this contact in his/her application dossier.

AWARD DETAILS:

Each of the Harriet Hale Woolley scholarships carries a stipend of 8,500 euros paid in four instalments throughout the academic year (October 1st – June 30th). Please note that the scholarship is designed to assist with the rent of an artist atelier or music studio at the Fondation des Etats-Unis, as well as for other living expenses.

The Woolley scholars are expected to participate actively and regularly in the cultural program of the Fondation des Etats-Unis by giving and attending concerts, art exhibitions, and various social events.

ABOUT THE FONDATION DES ETATS-UNIS:

Located across from the Parc Montsouris, the Fondation des Etats-Unis is part of the Cité internationale universitaire de Paris (CiuP), an international community of 37 student residences. The CiuP was the brainchild of André Honnorat as a means to promote international peace among the youth in the years following the first World War. Among the first houses to be constructed was the Fondation des Etats-Unis, which held its opening ceremony on April 28th, 1930, in the presence of its founder, American surgeon Homer Gage, American Ambassador Walter E. Edge, and Gaston Doumergue President of the French Republic.

For the past seventy-five years, the Fondation has been welcoming American and international students by providing them with more than a room; for its young residents, the Fondation is a solid point of departure and a comforting home to come return to, in which new insights are created and new friendships forged. It is a place in which to discover one's self and the world.

For more information about the Fondation des Etats-Unis and the CiuP, please consult their websites: www.feusa.org and www.ciup.fr.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS:

- Applicants must possess American citizenship.
- Applicants must be between 21 and 35 years of age.
- Applicants must have graduated with high academic standing from an American college, university or professional school of recognized standing. Preference is given to mature students who have already done some graduate study.
- Applicants must show evidence of high-level artistic or musical accomplishment.
- Applicants must have good moral character, personality and adaptability. They must also be in good physical health and emotional stability.
- Applicants must submit a completed application dossier. Incomplete dossiers will not be accepted.

Applications and all questions should be sent to :

Elizabeth Askren-Brie, Cultural Attaché
Harriet Hale Woolley Scholarship
Fondation des Etats-Unis
15 boulevard Jourdan
75014 Paris - FRANCE

Tél : +33 1 53 80 68 87

Email : elizabeth.askren-brie@feusa.org